Texas AgFinance Pays Patronage to Customers

Robstown, Texas — Texas AgFinance, a rural lending cooperative serving central and south Texas, recently mailed patronage checks to its stockholders. The cooperative's board of directors approved a patronage dividend based on the cooperative's 2010 earnings.

Customers received a check for their portion of a $2.25 million cash distribution, as well as a statement detailing their portion of a $5.25 million allocation that is eligible for future cash distribution. The combined $7.5 million patronage surpassed the amount paid by the lending cooperative last year.

"In 2010, Texas AgFinance generated $10.3 million in net earnings, the most in our association's history. The board and management are pleased to share that success with the customers who own our business," said Jimmy Wright, Texas AgFinance chief executive officer. "We are committed to sharing our earnings with our customer-owners, thereby reducing the effective interest rate on their loans."

Texas AgFinance is a customer-owned cooperative that has been making farm and ranch loans since 1933. The lender specializes in financing agricultural operations and the purchase and improvement of rural property, including loans for farms, ranches, hunting land and other recreational property. It is a member of the nationwide Farm Credit System, the nation's single largest source of loans for agriculture, agribusiness, rural real estate and country homes.

Headquartered in Robstown, the association has offices in Bandera, Brenham, Hebbronville, Pleasanton, Raymondville, Robstown, San Antonio, Uvalde and Weslaco. For more information, visit www.TexasAgFinance.com.

TWC Enforces Wage Payment Law

$13.5 million in unpaid wages collected on behalf of Texas workers

The Texas Workforce Commission (TWC) helped working Texans collect $13.5 million in unpaid wages between January of 2009 and March 2011. TWC administers the Texas Payday Law, which requires private employers to provide workers with earned compensation in a complete and timely manner.

"Workers need to be paid for the work they have done," said TWC Chairman Tom Pauken. "It benefits all employers and all workers when everyone understands and adheres to the law."

The Texas Payday Law provides an administrative alternative to costly litigation in resolving pay disputes and assists wage claimants in obtaining payment of owed wages. TWC Labor Law investigators annually conduct more than 15,000 wage claim investigations statewide.

"We encourage all Texas workers who feel they have not been paid for work that they've done to contact TWC so that we can offer assistance," said TWC Commissioner Representing Labor Ronny Congleton.

Workers who feel their rights have been violated under the Texas Payday Law should fill out a wage claim form and submit it to TWC's Labor Law division or their nearest workforce center. Labor Law staff also educates the general public about the Texas Payday Law, the Texas Child Labor Law and the Texas Minimum Wage Act through presentations to employer organizations, educational service centers, workforce boards and more.

"Through enforcement of Texas labor laws, TWC can help ensure that all Texas workers are paid what they are owed in a timely manner," said TWC Commissioner Representing the Public Andres Alcantar.

Wage claim forms are available on TWC's website at 1.

www.twc.state.tx.us/ui/lablaw/lablaw.html. Employers seeking required workplace signs may also access this website. Both employers and the general public may call (800) 832-9243 with any questions from within Texas or from outside Texas, call (512) 475-2670.

The Texas Workforce Commission is a state agency dedicated to helping Texas employers, workers and communities prosper economically. For details on TWC and the programs it offers in unison with its network of local workforce development boards, call (512) 463-8556 or visit www.texasworkforce.org.
